Dear Primary 6 Parents,

Nurturing Students according to their Aptitude

I am sure that finding a suitable secondary school for your child is a big concern for your family in the coming academic year. Besides growing up and acquiring knowledge, secondary schooling plays an important role in shaping a student's personality. If the school can cater for a student's characteristics and learning ability, the student will be nurtured in a fruitful environment and his or her potential will be fully developed.

As a Catholic school, our school sticks to the principle of nurturing students of all abilities. The motto of our school is "a sense of propriety, justice, honesty and honour". We also follow the motto of our school's founder, Father Vincent Lebbe: "Total Sacrifice, True Devotion, Constant Happiness". Our students are taught to identify their strengths and talents in the pursuit of their studies and different skills.

Our school's mission is to nurture the good character of our students so that they can better serve the community. All students who study here are taught to value themselves, pay filial piety to their parents and be helpful to others.

We are committed to taking care of every student while they are growing up. If you wish to learn more about our school, please feel free to phone our school on 27027102 or visit our school website <http://www.mingyuen.edu.hk/>

I look forward to hearing that your child will continue his or her schooling in an ideal secondary school such as ours.

Yours faithfully,

Chau Lai Ming

Principal, Catholic Ming Yuen Secondary School
