Your biggest weakness can be your greatest strength

6

I'm proud of being an introvert. Many people say I am too shy and quiet, but I don't think that is a disadvantage. I believe that such people can be excellent listeners. When my friends are in trouble, I always lend them an ear and they never have to worry about being interrupted. 6

Being an introvert also means that my friends are not worried about me sharing their secrets with others. It is an advantage rather than a shortcoming.
